

Kevin Johnson

Kevin Johnson is the Assistant Director of Training for the Nashville Sheriff Office where he supervises the firearms and physical techniques branch of the division. With over 40 years of extensive experience in the practice and training of integrated martial arts programs Kevin has developed courses and trained professional fighters, athletes, special operations military, law enforcement, corrections and security personnel. He has instructed trainers and cadets for the Metropolitan Nashville Police Academy, Tennessee highway patrol and various agencies across the country. He has served numerous times as an expert witness during litigation concerning use-of-force incidents. Kevin also has been an instructor with the American Correctional Association since 2012, teaching subject control and use-of-force classes where he traveled throughout the United Arab Emirates training cadets, officers, and instructors in that nation's correctional facilities.